S M Y R N A. June 1.
A Captain from Alexandria reports, that he met near Lero three Russian men of war, two frigates, and a bomb-ketch, the pilot of which informed him that they were bound to Boudroun and Rhodes, to burn all the Turkish vessels upon the rocks at these places. And he adds, that being soon after at anchor in the gulf of Mengalia, he heard the report of cannon, and concluded from thence that the Russians had begun the attack of Boudroun.

Constantinople, July 20. The event of the congress has been retarded some Time later than it would have been, by a scruple which arose in the conscience of one of the Plenipotentiaries, Ismael Essendi, whom the Grand Signior nominated one of his Plenipotentiaries, suddenly declared his opinion that he was totally deficient in talents and address for so important a business, and begged leave to resign. This rare instance of modesty in a Minister was instantly complied with, and his sublime Highness has nominated the Chief of the sect of the Der-vis in his room.

Warsaw, July 21. The report is current here, that Polish Prussia will, in September next, be declared under the dominion of a new master.

Lower Rhine, July 29. They write from Poland, that the Ladies of Cracow are preparing to give a singular instance of the esteem in which they always hold the brave and enterprising. A foreign officer some months ago took possession of the Castle of Cracow, and has defended it ever since against a numerous and powerful enemy, with a handful of Soldiers and ammunition. In imitation of the Queen of England, who presented Woodstock to Marlborough, to raise upon it the superb structure of Blenheim-house, these ladies are raising a liberal subscription to immortalize the name of this brave officer, by building him a superb edifice to be called the castle of Cracow; and a lofty pyramid is to be erected in the gardens, bearing upon it a description of the event, and historical emblems relating to it.

LONDON, August 7.

It is also said, that every kind of oppression continues to be practised in Portugal on our merchants there, notwithstanding the great and numerous obligations that country lies under to Great Britain.

We hear from Poland that the miserable inhabitants of that ruined country, to complete their wretchedness, are under the most direful apprehensions on account of the breaking out of the plague afresh on the confines of Podolia and the Russian Ukraine.

The following account from Charles de Salis, Esq; concerning a boy in Fatuce, who hath the most surprising faculty of discovering water under ground, being undoubtedly authentick, the inserting can but be very agreeable to the publick, as it will afford ample speculation for the deepest philosophers.

Extract of a Letter from Charles de Salis, Esq; at St. Tyne near Marfeilles, to his brother, the Rev.
Mr. de Salis, in England, dated June 17 1772.

"There is a boy here of twelve years of age who has the faculty of discovering water under ground; this gift of his was discovered about a year ago, in the following manner: He was standing at work by his father, who was digging, and on a sudden called out, "do not dig too deep, or the water will appear." The man had the curiosity to dig about 3 feet deep, and found a considerable spring. This singular thing being known in the province, several people of distinction, who wanted water on their estates, sent for him; amongst others, Monsieur Borelle sent for him to an estate of his, where according to tradition, there had been three springs.
The boy, without hesitation, carried him to every one of them. Monsieur de Bompert, commandant of the Squadron at Toulon, sent for him to a house of his near the town; Monsieur de Bompert was so convinced of the boy's skill, that he immediately fell to work, and has succeeded. At a house, which the Duke de Villars lived in, some of the water conduits under it were choaked up; and as the direction of them was not known, they to save the expence of taking up the floors, sent for the boy, who, on being carried to the spot, pointed to the place and said, "here the conduit begins, and goes in such a direction, &c." So much upon the relation of others; now for what I have seen myself. There was a neighbour of mine, as curious as myself to find out whether this boy had really such a gift. We agreed to put water in a large earthen pan, hermetically covered with another, and then place it in a hole, two feet under ground, in a vineyard that had been lately tilled. In order that no body should inform of it, at night we dug the hole ourselves, then covered it over, and smoothed the ground for twenty feet round. This we did in two places. The boy arrived next morning, and we took him about the country to shew his skill; he went before us alone, with his hands in a short waistcoat, and stopped short whenever he found water, spoke of it, and followed it to the spring head. Little by little, we brought him to where the water was hid; and I never was so astonished in my life, as to see him go out of the way, stamp upon the spot, and say, "here is water here, but it does not run." The earth was removed, and the pan found directly under. We took him to the second place, which he also discovered, but was angry at being deceived. He then found out a large spring near my neighbour's house, which he was greatly in want of for an oil mill he has there."

Extract of a letter from the Viscount, July 21.

"The Kingdom of Poland is almost totally ruined; near Warsaw indeed the land is sown, but from thence to Rawa nothing is to be seen but the ruins of villages. From Rawa to Sirad are some villages standing, but not a soul in them; the rest are burnt and destroyed, and the people run away. From Sirad to Silesia nothing presents itself but a scene of devastation. That once well cultivated kingdom lies now in ruins, and through the destructive consequences of war, pestilence, defections, &c. the lives of its inhabitants are diminished to an astonishing degree."

Extract of a letter from the Hague, July 31.

"According to the last letters from Warsaw, the plan for dividing Poland between the courts of Vienna, Petersburg and Berlin, is not so certain as has been reported. The King of Poland finding the whole affair is likely to be at his expence, is using his interest with the courts of Versailles, London and the Hague, to prevent the execution of a plan so destructive to his interest; and it is said that his solicitations have met with some success, so that this affair will at least be suspended for some time. The last letters from Copenhagen advise, that the inhabitants of that city inveigh exceedingly against the execution of the unfortunate Counts de Struensee and de Brandt; several circumstances having since appeared relative to the motives for that proceeding, which render the authors of it more and more odious to the publick."

On Tuesday arrived the Earl of Halifax Packet, in 34 Days from Falmouth, by whom we have the following Advices, viz.

ALTONA, August 22.

THE last letters received here from Stockholm confirm the news of a great revolt in Sweden, which first broke out at Christianstadt, where the Burghers, accusing the States of not having employed any means to prevent the exorbitant price of provisions and the oppression of the people, and resolving, they said, to have but one God and one King, they at length joined the soldiers of the garrison, who had seized the arsenal, and put several officers under arrest, for refusing to fall in with their measures. These letters add, that at the departure of the post, the gates of the town of Christianstadt were shut, and the Prince Charles of Sweden was marching at the head of a regiment towards Christianstadt, with some pieces of artillery, to re-establish good order.

Lisbon, July 24. A Moor, who is settled at Estramadura, has made a discovery of one of the assassins who fired upon his Majesty in 1758, while he was in his Chariot, and he is apprehended. His name is Joseph Policarpe, and it is hoped that he will make a full discovery of all his accomplices. The Moor, for his information, is to be dignified with a title, and to get a present of 200,000 reals.

Petersburg August 4. We are informed, that our fleet in the Archipelago and the Black Sea are to be reinforced with twenty ships of war and a number of troops.

Count Alexis Orlov hath received orders to sail immediately from Leghorn to the Archipelago, with all his men of war and transports, in order that he may be in a situation to continue the war with vigour by land and by sea, in case a peace should not be concluded, when the time of the armistice finishes.

Our Merchants rejoice before-hand, on account that we shall obtain a free commerce in the Black Sea; and they also promise themselves great advantage from the passage which hath been discovered from this empire to the East Indies.

L O N D O N,

July 31. His Majesty in Council was this day pleased to order that the Parliament that stands prorogued to the 11th of August next, should be further prorogued to the 29th day of September.

August 11. By Advices from Vienna we are informed, that the Prussian and Russian Ambassadors at that court have been suddenly recalled.

We hear from the Hague, that all differences between the Emperor of Morocco and the States-General, are at last finally settled to their mutual satisfaction.

Orders are sent to Ireland for a stop to be put to the exportation of salt provisions to the Spanish Islands in the West Indies.

The project of establishing a new colony in the back parts of America has proved a bone of contention among the Ministry; they have long been growing at one another, and were very near coming to an open rupture. It is said, the plan of the new settlement was artfully contrived by the Bedford faction, in order to oust the Hibernian Secretary of State, who had rashly declared, that if such a plan was carried into execution he would certainly resign. This was the very thing they wanted, and accordingly they took him at his word. The Bedfords, next planned another arrangement in their own favour, as follows: Lord Gower was to be Secretary of State for the colonies in the room of Lord Hillsborough; the Duke of Grafton was to be President of the Council in the room of Lord Gower; and Lord Weymouth was to succeed the Duke of Grafton as Privy Seal. However, all this Bedfordian agreement has been over-ruled by the superior influence of the PARLIAMENT, who has got his kinsman, the Lord Dartmouth, nominated to this department. In consequence of which nomination, Lord Dartmouth is to kiss the King's hand to-morrow.

By letters from Rome we are informed, that the Princess of Stolberg, consort to the Chevalier Stuart, has been declared to be pregnant, and both she and her husband have received compliments of congratulation from several persons of distinction thereon.

Captain Jones, we are told, has obtained another respite, to continue during his Majesty's pleasure.

By the ships arrived last from the Ganges we learn, that the Government of Bengal is in such a state of despotick anarchy, that nothing but a miracle can ward off a blow; and when the natives cry, "Havock, and let slip the dogs of war," if the Lord does not fight on our side, Mahomet will be there the honoured Prophet, and his paradise will be sought after by the company's most grateful and most meretricious servants.

A correspondent informs us; that the late Archbishop Secker, being in conference with an eminent Colonist, desired to know of him, if his countrymen would be averse to the sending a Bishop among them? Pray my Lord, said the Gentleman, can one Bishop make another? Undoubtedly, replied his Grace. Why then, my Lord, rejoined the Colonist, you may send your Bishop as soon as you please, it will be one considerable step towards our living without you.

August 12. This day the Right Hon. the Earl of Dartmouth kissed his Majesty's hand, on being appointed Secretary of State for the colonies, and first Lord of Trade, in the room of the Earl of Hillsborough.

St. James's, Sept. 1. The King has been pleased to grant unto George James Williams and Francis North, Esqrs, the office of Receiver General of all his Majesty's revenues within his colony and dominion of Virginia.

Sept. 2. They write from the Hague, that the partisans of the House of Bourbon have been for some time secretly soliciting the Dutch to come into a treaty for the mutual security of their possessions in the East and West Indies; but that the English interest had proved strong enough to break off the connection.

A gentleman resident at Berlin writes to his friend in town, that the King of Prussia's health visibly declines daily, and that, that active Monarch begins now to feel the fatal consequences of having gained his friends only by the sword. Probably his successor in the throne will some time hence wish his Majesty had not added so many provinces to his dominions.

Several letters have been lately received in town from Copenhagen, but they are so various and contradictory that no true judgment can be formed from them, as to the real situation of affairs in that capital, though from the general tenor of them it is conjectured the writers declined giving their sentiments, apprehending their letters would be intercepted; and that a second revolution either had happened, or was upon the point of taking place when these letters came away.

No less than eight commissions of bankruptcy passed the Great Seal yesterday. One of them is against a person who is said to have stopped for near 300,000l.

Yesterday a proclamation passed the Great Seal, promising a reward of 500l. for the discovering and apprehending any of the persons concerned in burning the Gaspee Schooner in Providence river, on the 10th of June last; also a further reward of 500l. and his Majesty's pardon to any of the offenders, for apprehending each of the ringleaders.

Also passed the Great Seal a reverend grant of the office of Secretary of his Majesty's province of New York, to William Knox, Esq; during his life, on the death, or any sooner determination of the interest therein, of George Clark, Esq; the present Secretary.

CHRISTIANSTAD, (St. Croix) August 29

On Thursday night last the sloop — Captain Lee, a drogher, belonging to Rapzot Heyliger, Esq, with a quantity of sugar and rum on board, was stranded on the reef off this harbour, it blowing hard, the sugar is entirely lost, but the whole or best part of the rum will be saved. It is yet uncertain whether the vessel can be saved: And last night it blew excessive hard from the westward, with very severe lightning, but as yet have not heard of any damage done.

BASSETTERE, (in St. Christophers) Sept. 2.

We inserted in our last the account of a hard gale of wind from S. W. with some accidents that attended the same, which to this island's inexpressible grief were no more than a prelude of our destruction; for on Monday last, at the dawn of day, our angry hemisphere predicted violence from the N. E. which by degrees broke forth upon us with such rage, not to be paralleled in the memory of the oldest man living, in destroying the sugar works and plantations in general, and in course nothing escaped its fury, the vessels of all denominations for safety put to sea, and by twelve at noon we were in hopes that the all gracious Providence had finished this fatal catastrophe, but to our mortal sorrow we were very unfortunately disappointed, for about that time the wind shifted to S. W. and S. which brought on such an incessant horrible scene of destruction till eight o'clock in the evening, that is beyond the power of man to relate, nothing less threatened us, as we feared, than a total annihilation of the island, and those vessels that in the morning went in search of safety and were not foundered, returned and were driven on shore on several parts of the island, and scarce a house, sugar mill, tree, or plant in this town, Sandy Point, Old Road, or island, but what were blown down, or very much damaged. The loss sustained by the planters, house-owners, and inhabitants is inestimable, the loss of lives is we hear considerable, only such particular names as have yet come to our knowledge are, Richard Matthews, Esq; Mrs. Thomas, relict of Mr. Thomas silversmith, and a great number dangerously wounded.

Sept. 9. From the Leeward we hear, that in Saba 128 houses were destroyed by the late hurricane, and that two ships (one a Guiney man) are lost on the back of that island, and every person on board perished. Our accounts from St. Martin's are more favourable, very little damage having been done there.

Perhaps a greater instance of the impetuosity of the storm cannot be given than the following, which we have just received from Sandy Point; Mr. Lewis's house, which was lofted, was separated at the runners, and the upper story laid tottly in his own yard, in which he and his numerous family now reside; while the lower story was rent in pieces; so that he may be said to live in a garret upon the ground.

From Antigua we hear, that Messrs. Willock and Merson have paid 15s a bushel for corn, taking a whole cargo; and so great are their distress in St. Eustatia, that five half Joas have been offered for a barrel of flour.

ANTIGUA, September 5.

On Monday last a most dreadful storm happened here, far more violent than the preceding one mentioned in our last Mercury; it began between one and two o'clock in the morning, continued increasing till near ten, and was not properly assuaged till five in the afternoon. To attempt a detail of the mischief done to individuals, by this dreadful tempest, would be endless, as every one has suffered in a greater or less degree; we should fail likewise, were we to attempt by language to raise an adequate idea of the dreadful effects of the scene, we can only say, that it can be better conceived than expressed, and even here, the most fruitful imagination would fall short. Let it suffice then for us to say generally — That all the vessels in the different harbours (with very few exceptions, which we shall take notice of hereafter) were either sunk, overset, or driven ashore: Even that sure place English Harbour was not a sufficient asylum for the vessels there; his Majesty's ships Chatham, Active, Sea-Horse, and Falcon, were driven from their moorings and suffered greatly; the former lost her foremast, and the others have not a mast standing. One ship in the harbour of St. John's, by having her masts cut away, with two sloops in a miraculous manner, rode out the storm; one ship drove to sea, and has not since been heard of; That the church, court house, barrack, and most, if not all, the public buildings are greatly injured; That very few, if any, of the houses in St. John's have entirely escaped: That all the buildings, wind-mills, works, &c. on every estate, or the greatest part of them, are levelled with the ground, many negroes killed, and many wounded; the cattle and other live stock shared the same fate, the ground provisions destroyed. The loss sustained by the fire in 1769, cannot be put in competition with the present calamity.

Mrs. White, wife of Mr. George White, Merchant, and Dr. Gavin Montgomery unfortunately lost their lives in the storm; Mr. White had his collar bone broke, and is since dead; and many others whose names we have not as yet been acquainted with. By the fall of his Majesty's hospital at English Harbour, we hear ten of the sick there and the nurse were buried in the ruins.

PHILADELPHIA, October 7.

Capt. Moore from South Carolina, the 29th ult. in lat 38, 10, long 73, 41, spoke the sloop Fancy, Capt. Barker, on a whaling voyage from Nantucket, who informs, that on the 15th, about 35 leagues off Cape Hatteras, he fell in with a single deck dis-

ANATOMICAL PRELECTIONS, the eighth Course.

ON Monday November the Ninth, the introductory Lecture will be read at five in the Evening; wherein a Sketch of the original Authors and improvers of Anatomy will be given.

On Wednesday following, the Osteology will begin, and on Friday and following Days proceed until the Sum of the Discoveries of Havers, Nesbit and Rufchius, in the Conformation of these Parts, are perfectly described; and the Doctrines of the Diseases of the Bones, as suggested by the celebrated Boerhaave in his Aphorisms, and explained by the Baron Van Suietian, are illustrated, with fine Preparations of their Membranes and Vessels.

In the Second Part, the Muscling, the elegant Descriptions of that great Anatomist William Cooper, will be illustrated, and many Preparations exhibited, whereby the multitude of Vessels, in these Instruments of Motion are set to View; and the peculiar modification of component Parts, by which they are liable to Obstructions, cold and inflammatory, may be clearly understood.

In the Third Part, the Trunks and larger Branches of the Arteries will be traced through all the Organs, and the Motion of the Blood through them, and return by the Veins, as proposed, and proved by Harvey, will be likewise demonstrated by the additional Experiments of Injections, which run with great Facility from Arteries into Veins, quite round from the left Ventricle to the right Auricle and Lungs.

In Part the Fourth, all the Nerves, as usual, will be traced as far as can be, by Anatomical Enchyresis, and shown; where the proximate Causes of some Palseys, and imbecility of sensitive Powers are made evident to Sight.

Part the Fifth exhibits the Viscera of the three Cavities, wherein not only the Structure and circular Motion of the Fluids will be again demonstrated, but some of the Causes whereby that Motion, on which animal Life chiefly depends, is so frequently disturbed. And in this Part the Discoveries of the famous Willis in the Structure of the Encephalon and Nerves; of Lower in the Heart, and of Giffon in the Constriction, and Motions of the Liver, Stomach and Intestines, will be shown, and such Inferences and Deductions drawn from the Structure, as may seem to set the Doctrines on the Uses and Affections of these Parts; in the clearest Light, as delivered by those great Men.

The whole Course too, will be closed with the beautiful Phenomenon of the Blood's Circulation, as well in the double reflecting as in the solar Microscope.

Private Instruction, Ten Pounds.

Public Lectures, Five Pounds.

N. B. And as the President and Governors insist, that a public Examination in natural Philosophy shall precede the medical Degrees, a Course of Prelections will be instituted for this Intention; and all those Parts of natural Philosophy selected, which are deemed essentially necessary to the right understanding of Principles on which the Propositions concerning the animal Oeconomy are founded.

POET'S CORNER.

THE SINCERE MAIDEN.

As lately I ramble the meadows along,
To hear the sweet Linnets and Gold Finch's song, I met with young Phillis, the pride of the green, As blooming and lovely, as beauty's fair Queen:
"Well met pretty maiden," said I with a smile,
"Pray why in such haste? can't you tarry a while?"
"Young twain," she replied, "pray pursue your own way, For here with a shepherd, 'twere folly to stay;
I tremble to think you should meet me alone, So if you'd oblige me, I prithee begone!
You men are deceivers—not one of you true, Perhaps you'll be rude, and then what shall I do?"
"Dear Phillis, thou charmer," I tenderly said;
"Do you think I would harm a young innocent maid?" Believe me dear maiden, I scorn to beguile, And therefore oblige me and tarry a while:
I want but to whisper a word in your ear, And tho' we're alone, you have nothing to fear."
"All this may be true," the dear charmer replied, "You men pass for faints, till your honour is tried;
But they who believe ev'ry promise you make,
Will sorely repent when they find their mistake:
So pray let me go, lest I find you untrue, For should you be rude, I may not know what to do."
"Believe me," I answer'd, "my heart is sincere, I long have ador'd you, then what should you fear?
You cannot suppose I'd attempt to give pain,
To one whose affections I'm striving to gain:
I ask for no favour but what you may grant, A kiss and no more, is the thing that I want."
"A kiss may undo me," the answer'd, "then say, Will you wed me next morn if I tarry to day?"
"O yes," I replied, "I will take you for life;
For all that I wish, is to make you my wife!
Do this then," she said, "to convince me you're true, Then should you be rude, I may know what to do."

NEW-YORK, OCTOBER 15.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman at St. Eusta-tia, to his Friend in New York, dated Sept. 5.

"I am sorry by this Opportunity to have Occasion to mention to you the unfortunate Situation we are in at this Island: On the 28th of last Month, we had a violent Gale of Wind that drove all our Shipping out of the Road, except a Spanish Sloop from Campeachy, and a Schooner ready to sail with a large Quantity of Fire Arms for Margarita.
A Sloop belonging to Richard Quince, Esq; of North-Carolina, which had just arrived, loaded with Lumber, and a small Vessel from Anguilla, were drove on Shore, the Vessels lost, but their Cargoes and People saved. Two Days after, when the Gale was abated, most of the Vessels returned into Port; but that Gale was only a Prelude of what was to follow, for on Monday the 31st, about 8 o'Clock in the Morning, the Wind sprung up at North, and gradually increased till about Twelve, when we judged it at its height; it then shifted all round the Compass, and spread such Terror and Destruction, as is not remembered by the oldest Man now living amongst us; it destroyed almost every Thing that impeded its Course, and raised so large a Sea in the Road, that a Brig and Schooner lately arrived from Porto Rico, deeply laden with Mill Timber and Fustick, foundered at their Anchors, and every Person on board perished.
Every other Vessel was driven out of the Road, some not having half Ballast, which makes us imagine that it was impossible for them to withstand the Fury of the Wind and Sea, and it is doubtful whether many, if not all of them have not perished.
The Damage we have received on Shore is almost inconceivable; those who live upon the Hill have been the greatest Sufferers, not one House that stood there but what was blown down almost instantly, or lost its Roof; almost every out House and Kitchen laid down to the Ground, and some Houses taken up bodily by the Force of the Wind and removed to or 12 Yards from where they formerly stood, and others carried into the Sea. The Plantation Houses are all down, except one or two; the Canes are all twisted out of the Ground by the Roots, and rendered useless; nothing but Destruction and Desolation wherever you cast your Eyes.
Many poor Widows with seven or eight, and some with ten Children, have nothing now to shelter them from the inclement Sky; and to add to their Distress, we are without any Kind of Provisions except Irish Beef. Some few of the Inhabitants, who by Accident had five or six Barrels of Flour by them, immediately had it baked, in order to distribute it among the very Poor, to keep their Children from perishing. Never was so much Distress seen before in this Place; the lamentable and hungry Cry of naked Children, running through the Streets, begging for Sustainance, was distressing to Humanity! Our humane and good Governor, has purchased a Parcel of Beef to distribute among the Poor, who have nothing left to keep them from perishing, and they are obliged to take Sanctuary in the English Church, which has not lost above one Quarter of its Roof; that of the Dutch Church having blown into the Sea.
Upon the Bay our Sufferings were small, comparatively speaking with those upon the Hill, not above Ten or a Dozen Houses were unapt, or blown down; but in the Night, upon the ceasing of the Wind, we had such Deluges of Rain, that the Water emptied itself from the Hill on the Bay, and brought down so much Rubbish with it, that next Morning we found all our Streets choked with Dirt, and many Persons were obliged, in order to get out of their Houses, to come through the upper Story Windows. Thank God it happened in the Day, otherwise many Lives would have been lost; as yet we have not heard of above ten or twelve People on the Shore, but we have seen many Corps drove up by the Sea, supposed to belong to the Vessels which were lost. Not less than 400 Houses were blown down on the Hill, or rendered untenable, and many of the Proprietors are so poor as not to be able to rebuild again. Our Secretary, (Mr. De Graaf) is a very great Sufferer, all his Dwelling and Out-houses are down, and he narrowly escaped with his Life, after loosing all his Furniture, and even his private Papers: 'Tis supposed that his Loss cannot be less than Sixty Thousand Pieces of Eight, and that of the Island in general, to at least One Million of Pieces of Eight.
Now judge you of our Situation amidst all this Distress, to be without Bread of any Kind; no Flour nor Corn in the Island,—the Yams and Cassada destroyed, and what few Barrels of Bread were in the Island (about forty in all) sold at Twelve Dollars, and was equally distributed among the Inhabitants, which served as a temporary Relief. One Huckster, last Week bought up 50 Barrels of Flour, and now takes the Advantage of our Distresses, and sells a Dog Loaf, no larger than a Turkey Egg; for which inhuman Act, he is held in Abhorrence by every feeling humane Heart; and altho' he was offered 25 Pieces per Barrel, for a perishing Family, yet he refused to take it: This soon reached our good Governor's Ears, who soon obliged Mr. ———, to dispose of his Flour on reasonable Terms."

MACHINE to dress FLOUR.

THE King has been pleased to grant unto JOHN MILNE of Manchester, his royal letters patent, for all his colonies in America, &c. for the sole making and vending his new invented machines, for the dressing the flour of wheat, &c. which machines are found to be of great utility by all persons who have them in use; they not only make the flour look better, but also make it use better, as they make it more lively, and will dispatch three times as much business in the same time, at the common method of bolting with cloths, and they will do that business at one operation; which, to be done with cloths, requires several, for they will dress fine flour, two seconds and three seconds, and clean the bran at one operation; or they may make two sorts, or only one sort of flour, by moving the partitions within the box, just as the person pleases who attends it; and considering their duration, are much cheaper than cloths. Also, his new invented machines for cleaning wheat, barley, &c. which takes out seeds, dust, &c. and will break and destroy smut balls, and give a brightness and lustre to the grain.

The said machines are to be sold by JOHN MILNE, and Co. at their house in Manchester; or by applying to James Milne (son of the said John Milne) who is now at Mr. Needham's, opposite Beckman's Slip, New-York.

Just imported in the last vessels from ENGLAND, A fresh COLLECTION of the above mentioned MACHINES.

To the PUBLICK.

HAVING had an experience of Mr. Milne's new invented patent machines, for bolting flour and cleaning wheat, at my mill, where they are now to be seen at work, at Long-Island—I think it my duty to declare, that they are a curious, expeditious and elegant contrivance, and what, in my opinion, will answer every purpose for which they are designed, and likewise be of great service to the publick. JACOB SEBRING, junr.

To the PUBLICK.

I Think it incumbent on me, for the good of the community, and particularly of those who are manufacturers of flour, to declare, that upon trial, I have found Mr. Milne's machine answer the purposes of bolting, for which they are intended; infinitely better than the old method of doing it with cloths, as they really bolt three times as quick without the least exaggeration, and are a very ingenious contrivance.
